Certificate Program in Learning, Innovation & Performance

Learn to use the latest technology, skills, and theory to build effective training, improve performance, foster innovation. Learn while working as a team with other working professionals on real projects. Become a better, more effective, more efficient professional.

Semester 1: Design & Build Effective Training
Skills of design and delivery including: Web, Computer Based, Print, Video, Just in Time Delivery, On the Job Training, and more.

Semester 2: Performance - Faster & Cheaper
Get the most of your time and budget by targeting with effective analysis, implementation, rapid prototyping, ROI, and user-driven interventions.

News Flash
This year’s group will work on a training project with the Yale New Haven Center for Emergency Preparedness and Disaster Response, developing training that will be used worldwide! Learn to build quality in real situations to immediately apply to your own work.

No experience in instructional design necessary. No degree required. Working professionals who want to become the best practitioners. Learn to work better, faster, smarter and use technology to help.

Application required
Limited openings

September - May
12 Credits (grad or undergrad)
Team based Cohort program

You only have one opportunity a year to join this exciting new program.

Apply by May 15 for priority consideration.

For more information and to apply, contact:
Dr. Steven Schatz, University of Hartford schatz@hartford.edu
www.Hartford.edu/LIP 860-768-4277